

4. Create a XBeach model

This example shows how Delft Dashboard can be used to set up in a few minutes a tidal simulation using a two-level nesting approach. The model includes a coarser model for Southern California, in which an already existing high resolution model for San Diego bay is nested.