8. Backtracking for model results

Summary

Especially in DSSs, it is often required to have a transparent system. This means that it is necessary to be able to trace back how model results are derived. This means that access to intermediate data is needed. For this an additional interface could be used to distinguish between "black" and "white" box models, to check if this information is available.

How to address in Version 1

…

How to address in Version 2

…